"Employability Skills Enhancement practices for students support and progression. "

2. Objectives of the Practice

The objective of this practice is to improve the technical Skills and personality development skill like communication skills, aptitude, reasoning skills to make the students employable and improve their employability probability. In this practices various types of training, modular training, Skill & personality development training are provided to the students. This will definitely help the students to improve their the technical/practical knowledge of the subjects they are studying, to mark up their career, and also to provide them with the experience of corporate culture so that a student can be well versed in technical and corporate work style for his professional development.

Broadly we can mention the objectives as under

1. To develop skills in the application of theory to practical work situations.

2. To develop skills and techniques directly applicable to their careers.

3. The Context

It's known that all engineering jobs required logical and technical implementation of knowledge in a procedural manner. A successful engineering professional needs to have base of analytical reasoning and technology-based knowledge so that he can complete his job in a desirous aspect.

This training program helps students in availing the required exposure of organization; he/she would like to work upon as a professional and also provides technical skills required for a job. The students will learn how to deal problems related to work profile, how to deal with different kinds of software applications used by organization and also how a project can be managed which includes presentations and report writing and man power handling.

4. The Practice

Apart from regular theory classes students need to acquire practical knowledge of the subjects they are dealing with. As Akola, where our Institute is situated, is having very less number of such industrial exposure to our student. Department of Chemical Engineering, COET, Akola signed a MOU with One of the leading Government Company in the field for providing Real time and real life experience to our students of the various Chemical Engineering processes.

The purpose of this modular training is to expose students to real work of environment experience and at the same time, to gain the knowledge through hands on observation and job execution. From this training, the students will also develop skills in work ethics, communication, management and others. Moreover, this practical training program along with theory lectures allows students to relate theoretical knowledge with its practical application in the process industry.

❖ Modular Training:

1. Department of Chemical Engineering had organized Modular Training for third Year Chemical Engineering students at RCF, Thal Alibagh. Twenty One students along with two staff members had participated in this modular training at RCF Thal, Alibag Unit from 16th to 21st January 2017.
